Philip Glass Symphony No. 9

Recording of Glass' newest Symphony . Mastered Specifically for iTunes . Now Available Exclusively On The iTunes Store

<http://itunes.apple.com/us/album/glass-symphony-no.-9/id497410115>

Philip Glass, America's most esteemed composer, celebrates his 75th birthday with performances and events across the globe encompassing every facet of the composer's decades-long career as a preeminent America composer—opera, chamber music, film music, dance, theatre works and more.

For this occasion Orange Mountain Music presents the world premiere Bruckner Orchester recording of the Ninth Symphony exclusively on the iTunes Store (www.itunes.com/philipglass), available on the composer's 75th birthday, Jan. 31. (Download starts in Europa on Feb. 3, in Japan on Feb. 7, 2012) .

Glass' long-time collaborator Dennis Russell Davies, conductor and music director of the Bruckner Orchester Linz, Landestheater and the Sinfonieorchester Basel, who has premiered all but one Glass symphony, conducts this new recording mastered for iTunes using high-resolution sourced audio to provide fans with an incredibly rich listening experience.

Composed on commission from the Bruckner Orchester Linz, Carnegie Hall, and the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Philip Glass' Ninth Symphony was written for large symphony orchestra - piccolos are doubled, the horn section fortified, and bass, brass, and timpani doubled.

Glass' three-movement 52-minute Symphony No.9 received its world premiere in Linz Austria on New Year's Day 2012. The West Coast Premiere of Glass' Symphony No.9 takes place at Disney Hall in April 2012 with the LA Philharmonic with John Adams conducting. The U.S. premiere of the new symphony takes place at Carnegie Hall on 31 January 2012, Glass' 75th birthday.

The Bruckner Orchester Linz, continues its long association with the music of Philip Glass having performed and recorded his Symphonies No. 6, 7, and 8, as well as staging of his operas The Voyage, Kepler, and Orphée.
